Extraxi Overview

Extraxi is a specialist provider of security management and reporting solutions based on authentication, authorization and accounting (AAA: RADIUS and TACACS+) log data and in particular the Cisco Secure ACS product line.

The growing importance of secure access control to all aspects of identity-based network services in the enterprise increasingly means that provision of a reliable and secure access service is truly mission critical. Extraxi's flagship product, aaa-reports! provides the final piece of the AAA jigsaw to provide the auditing, analysis and reporting essential to all AAA administrators. aaa-reports! now extends far beyond its traditional remote access usage reports to provide reporting solutions for all types of AAA network service: network access control (NAC), Sarbanes-Oxley compliance (SOX), LAN, wireless LAN (WLAN), VPN, Voice over IP (VoIP), firewall and dial up.

Focused on building truly easy-to-use and affordable solutions, Extraxi provides a high-value, aggressively priced solution that scales from small enterprises upward, enabling all access control system administrators to really get a grip on what is happening on their systems. aaa-reports! is applicable to all access control implementations regardless of industry sector.
